Always search your college/university site for scholarship opportunities. Simply search for “scholarships” which will provide you with both internal and external opportunities. Every school should have this type of website available information with varying degrees of usefulness. The “internal” scholarships will be unique to the institution; whereas, the “external” will be available to applicants not necessarily enrolled at the school. The following website is from the University of Illinois www.osfa.illinois.edu/aid/scholarships/.
